

Conclusion From Management

Researching and developing the coffee app was a great experience. We love coffee at 3MiGO and the opportunity to help with the creation of an app to support local coffee shops seemed like a dream. The process of making decisions and changes wasn't all too hard as we have similar ideas. We didn't argue about anything and we communicated regularly and effectively to get as many of our ideas down.

We did run into a few problems which we have discussed as a group now. The main one being time management. We failed to reach deadlines and have completely failed in completing all tasks in a timely manner. This is also due to my management as I have failed to create realistic deadlines with enough wiggle room for amendments and corrections.

The head of Sales and Marketing and head of Research and Development were a joy to work with. We go along very well and worked together throughout everything during the development of the app. We have outlined our mistakes and will work more effectively on our next project together. We really enjoyed working on this project and look forward to our next commission.
